FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Pactomics Launches Groundbreaking System for Enhanced Understanding and Team Transformation

Dover, Delaware, USA – July 6, 2024 – Today marks the official global launch of Pactomics, a pioneering system designed to revolutionize the way individuals and teams understand and optimize their behavior. By leveraging cutting-edge neuroscience and psychology, Pactomics offers an advanced profiling system that fosters improved communication, strengthens relationships, and enhances overall performance in both personal and professional settings.

Pactomics is the brainchild of founders Kovid Panthy and Kim Baaden, operating under Impact Yes, LLC, based in the United States but with roots in Germany. The system integrates sophisticated insights from neuroscience, including MRI brain scans analyzed with the assistance of AI, to evaluate functional brain networks. Originally created to address complex neurological disorders, Pactomics has evolved to encompass positive psychology, offering users an unparalleled understanding of their behavior.

“Pactomics is grounded in the neuroscience of the brain’s building blocks, neurons, and the formation of functional neural networks. We aim to provide profound insights that are unavailable elsewhere,” says Kovid Panthy, co-founder of Pactomics.

Key Features of Pactomics:

1. Explore Your Behavioral Patterns: Discover personal behavioral preferences and patterns, and gain insights into the behavior of others through a detailed Likert scale-based assessment.
2. Neuroscience-Driven: The innovative tool is rooted in the fusion of cutting-edge neuroscience research and psychology, setting a new standard for behavioral assessment.

3. Multiple Service Offerings: Pactomics offers a range of services, including online self-assessments, one-on-one consultations, public workshops, and corporate seminars—each accompanied by a detailed PDF report.

Service Options include:

- Online Self-Assessment: A detailed 50-page PDF report for individuals seeking self-discovery and growth.
- One-on-One Consultations: Personalized sessions with a certified Pactomics consultant available online or in-person, accompanied by a comprehensive PDF report.
- Public Workshops: Group sessions that explore the principles of Pactomics.
- Corporate Seminars: Tailored training programs designed to meet organizational needs.

For Individuals: Pactomics enhances performance, aids in navigating complex work environments and relationships, and improves communication and influence.

For Teams: Pactomics builds stronger connections, drives exceptional results, and improves overall team dynamics and performance.

The system evaluates four key behavioral elements: Imagine, Relate, Actualize, and Reason. Each element is analyzed across two dimensions, providing a detailed behavioral blueprint that helps individuals and teams refine their communication styles and make decisions more effectively.

"Pactomics transcends traditional personality assessments by providing actionable insights that promote both personal and professional growth," says Kim Baaden, co-founder of Pactomics.

Future Plans: Pactomics is planning a major international conference to celebrate its first anniversary on July 6, 2025, in the United States. This event will serve as a platform to showcase the system's impact on global teams and organizations.

About Pactomics: Pactomics operates under the umbrella of Impact Yes, LLC, and is based in the USA. With the slogan "Know. Your. Color.", Pactomics is leading the way in bridging the gap between neuroscience and practical behavior insights for transformative outcomes.
